Many international students begin their journey with us through our English or Hungarian Foundation Courses, designed to improve language and academic skills. At BA level, we offer programmes in English and American Studies, Germanic Studies (German, Scandinavian, Netherlandistic), Romance Languages and Cultures (French, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, Romanian), and Hungarian Studies. These programmes support both scholarly and business-oriented language development, with a focus on intercultural communication and practical skills.

ADVANCED MASTER'S PROGRAMMES

Our 2-year MA programmes allow for specialization in a wide range of fields, including Modern Languages, Archaeology, Film Studies, Cultural Heritage Studies, Central European Studies, Philosophy, Semiotics, and many more. We also offer a 1-year MA programme for future English language instructors. All programmes combine strong theoretical foundations with small-group, interactive seminars.

DOCTORAL OPPORTUNITIES

ELTE's Faculty of Humanities is a leading doctoral centre in Central Europe. Our PhD programmes are organized into four Doctoral Schools: History, Philosophy, Linguistics, and Literary Studies. With 70 programmes in total, we provide outstanding opportunities for advanced research and academic development.

RESEARCH AND ACADEMIC RESOURCES

Our Faculty is a hub of international research, supported by national and EU-funded collaborations. Students may join research projects in close cooperation with their supervisors. Our major library offers extensive resources and access to scientific databases via Hungary's Electronic Information Service.

Hungary has always enjoyed a well-deserved reputation for its excellence in education, which is also displayed by the intellectual richness of our faculty.

A truly unique and exciting country, Hungary is one of the most stunning places in the heart of Central and Eastern Europe. With its noble traditions and cultural diversity, Hungary provides a welcoming and hospitable environment for all visitors. The country has seen tumultuous years during its history. Rulers came and went, empires rose and fell – still Hungary went on renewing and developing itself, and celebrated the 1000th anniversary of its foundation in 2000. We can proudly say that students come here from all over the world to pursue their studies in all fields of academics.

The Faculty provides a stimulating and friendly environment for beginning university or pre-university studies. The Department of International Affairs offers a wide variety of services and events to international students at the Faculty of Humanities on the lush and vibrant campus in the very heart of the fair city of Budapest. You will find our capital both welcoming and inspirational – it has more in store for the continuously growing international community than many other European cities.

BACHELOR'S PROGRAMME

required credits	180 credits
duration of programme	6 semesters
degree	Bachelor's degree

Hungarian higher education system in general follows the Bologna process. Programmes are accredited by the Hungarian accreditation board. Course credits are transferable in all European Union member states.

The academic year at ELTE starts in September.

Both semesters start with a registration period which is followed by the study period and an examination period afterwards.

At the end of the semester, students are graded on their performance on a five-grade scale	★	5 – excellent
	●	4 – good
	●	3 – satisfactory
	●	2 – pass
	●	1 – fail

ECTS credit system

The ECTS conversion table ensures transfer procedures between the Hungarian academic credit system and the ECTS.

The recognition of courses completed abroad is based on the credit transfer regulation. For incoming international students, a Transcript of Records is issued at the end of the semester, which contains the codes and titles of the completed courses, credits, their grades, and ECTS-compatible grades.

English Foundation Course

The English Foundation Course has been designed for students who are already at a CEFR A2 level in English and wish to study at ELTE or another European university, but do not yet have the necessary level of language proficiency or study skills to pursue a BA degree programme. With a minimum of 800 contact hours guaranteed, the English Preparatory Year can bring students up to speed in as little as two semesters.

Duration of programme	1 year (2 semesters)
Application deadline	31 May / 31 October
Language of instruction	English
Starting date	September / February
Department	Department of International Affairs

LANGUAGE IMPROVEMENT

This is the core element of the programme, with a general course in language improvement, focusing on the basic skills of speaking, writing, listening and reading. To prepare students to use English for study purposes, there are specialised courses in the accurate use of English grammar and vocabulary, academic reading and writing, and classes on the presentation and discussion skills needed for participation in seminars.

STUDY SKILLS

Our teachers are there to help, but students are expected to develop independent study skills for their future academic and professional career by attending courses designed to improve self-study skills, such as setting goals, managing time and monitoring progress. Teachers will also set assignments to be completed through individual study and advise about available resources.

CULTURAL STUDIES

It is impossible to use a language without understanding the culture that surrounds it. The programme includes courses on the major English-speaking cultures in the British Isles and North America. Other courses cover aspects of European culture in general, as well as the culture of the host country, Hungary.

GOALS

Students should be able to pass the CEFR B2 level language proficiency exam offered by the University at the end of the academic year. Passing the exam will gain students admission to ELTE's English and American Studies BA programmes, and programmes in other subjects taught in English. They may be admitted into another higher education institution of their choice in Hungary or the European Union depending on the language requirements of the other institution.

Hungarian Foundation Course

Specialising in Hungarian language teaching for foreigners, the National Centre for Hungarian offers cutting edge programmes to anyone interested in the Hungarian language and culture. The Hungarian General Language programme is the ideal way to jump-start your future academic or professional life in Hungary.

Duration of programme	1 year (2 semesters)
Application deadline	31 May
Language of instruction	English / Hungarian
Starting date	September
Department	Department of International Affairs

FIRST SEMESTER INTENSIVE COURSE

The course aims to equip students with the tools needed to successfully manage communicational situations arising in the target language environment, and to understand factual texts containing the basic structures of the language, in both reading and writing.

SECOND SEMESTER INTENSIVE COURSE

The course provides students with the full formal system of the Hungarian language. The course subjects, aimed at developing the various language skills, now concentrate on areas such as independent written compositions and language use for expressing opinions. The reading programme gradually leads from understanding texts with the help of a dictionary up to the independent processing of texts. The latter subjects can be expanded by developing the basic vocabulary according to the students' wishes into such areas as history, literature, sociology, etc.

The language proficiency acquired by the end of the course allows students to use the language for specific purposes, enabling them to continue their university studies or to use Hungarian as an intermediary language at work.

Doctoral programmes

We offer 70 accredited doctoral programmes in all fields of study within the humanities.

The diversity of the subjects that may be studied here makes the faculty a unique doctoral centre in the Central European region. The PhD programmes are organised into four doctoral schools.

Students work on their dissertation topic under the guidance of a supervisor, an established member of Hungarian and international academic life. The doctoral programmes aim to endow the students with the research methodology needed for an academic career, and help develop their qualities as teacher and researcher.

By fulfilling the publication requirements, students become part of international academic life. International agreements between universities and the diverse international academic relations of supervising teachers provide outstanding students with the opportunity to partake in foreign research programmes, or to complete their doctoral studies in a so-called Co-tutelle arrangement (double doctoral degree scheme). Doctoral schools frequently organise conferences, which serve as an excellent forum for talented students to present the results of their independent research, and to develop the academic skills indispensable for a future academic.

Research

ELTE's Faculty of Humanities actively takes part in national and international collaborations.

Talented students may participate in such projects in cooperation with their tutors.

The establishment of the research centres has allowed the Faculty to put its existing academic resources to use in an organised manner. The faculty promotes bi- and multilateral international educational and research collaboration with the region's and the world's leading higher education and research institutions. We strive to become a leading centre of humanities research within the Central European region.

The instructors of the faculty's 18 institutes regularly travel abroad and host their international colleagues at home. They regularly organise international academic conferences and, by sending their students abroad, ensure that the future generations of researchers and instructors receive high-level training with an international outlook. Our instructors foster personal working or consultative relationships with university tutors and research centre staff from 40 countries, many of whom are involved in the editorial processes of renowned international academic journals.

LIBRARIES IN THE SERVICE OF RESEARCH

Our library network – comprising the Central Reading Hall and the individual libraries of the various institutes – holds 1.2 million individual documents; a rarity not just in a domestic, but also in an international comparison, as only the most reputable institutions can boast such collections.

The faculty's imposing special collections, the works of its past professors and renowned academics, its private libraries, museum pieces (globally unique incunabula, manuscripts and records), its own periodicals (scientific journals, almanacs), doctoral dissertations, non-traditional documents (score sheets, photos) are indisputable treasures of Hungary's cultural heritage. Many of the faculty's collections also function as national reference libraries. In addition to providing traditional library services, the library network also helps enhance research and education at the faculty by providing access to the major humanities and social sciences article databases like JSTOR or ERIC.

COLLEGES FOR ADVANCED STUDIES

The oldest college for advanced studies is Eötvös József Collegium founded in 1895, whose history is closely tied to that of the faculty. Talented students can get here the chance to immerse themselves in the research of a field of their choosing beyond their university studies.

SCIENTIFIC STUDENTS' ASSOCIATIONS

All academic branches taught at the faculty have their own Scientific Students' Associations (in Hungarian TDK), which provide an organised framework for students' individual and group research activities. These associations give talented students the chance to conduct far more in-depth research activities than within their regular university studies and write and debate research papers under the supervision of teachers specialising in the given field. Students who put together the best papers get to take part in the biennial National Conference of Scientific Students' Associations. The best papers are published in the faculty's publications and scientific journals, helping their authors gain admission to a doctoral programme and to eventually become recognised figures in academic life.

TUTORING

Tutoring gives students a chance to take part in one-on-one study sessions with an instructor of their choosing, allowing for a more intensive and immersive exploration of the given subject matter

HONORATION STATUS

The honorator status is the highest level of individual talent management. It entails taking on an additional minor or specialisation for a total of 50 credits free of charge beyond the mandatory minor or track comprising 180 credits.

In addition, the faculty has established the Student Excellence Scholarship through which the Master's programme student deemed the most outstanding among their peers is awarded significant financial support with a view to enhancing their academic activities and professional advancement.

—Did you know?—

As well as academic conferences, lectures, and roundtable discussions, most departments and institutes also organize their own events.

These include the annual Slavic Spring and Christmas celebrations, the Advent concert, the St. Patrick's Day and Halloween parties hosted by the Institute of English and American Studies, the chanson evenings of the Institute of Romance Studies, or the Hungarian Department Day.

Required English proficiency

All our mid-level programmes (bachelor and above) require applicants to submit proof of language proficiency.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS FOR BA AND MA PROGRAMME APPLICANTS

Every international student applying for an English-medium study programme (Bachelor-level or higher) must show proof of a certain level of English language proficiency.

GENERAL REQUIREMENT FOR PROGRAMMES TAUGHT IN ENGLISH

	TOEFL IBT	IELTS	CEFR
BA programme	72-94	5.5	B2
MA programme	95-120	6.5	C1

ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY REQUIREMENTS FOR THE FOUNDATION COURSE IN ENGLISH

Recommended minimum level of English: A2 level of the CEFR (Common European Framework of Reference), i.e. a minimum of approximately 250 hours of previous studies.

For the Foundation Course in English, no language certificate is required, but meeting the above requirement is strictly the applicant's responsibility, as they will be asked to take a proficiency test at the beginning of their preparatory year. Should the student fail to meet this minimum requirement, they will not be able to follow the classes.

NATIVE SPEAKERS

Students from countries whose official (first or de jure) language is the language of tuition are exempt from the above language exam requirements. Instead of the required language certificates listed above, students must present an official, notarised document, stating that English has been the medium of their tuition throughout their high school and/or university studies.

Stipendium Hungaricum

STIPENDIUM HUNGARICUM SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAMME

Hungarian universities and colleges attract thousands of international applicants each year. The number of Stipendium Hungaricum applicants as well as the number of available scholarship places are continuously on the rise. Every year, more than 5,000 students begin their studies in Hungary within the framework of the Stipendium Hungaricum Programme.

The programme is based on bilateral educational cooperation agreements signed between the ministries responsible for education in the sending countries/territories and Hungary or between institutions. Currently around 80 Sending Partners are engaged in the programme throughout 5 different continents and the geographical scope of the programme expands each year. For more information, visit:

STIPENDIUMHUNGARICUM.HU

Did you know?

There are dedicated mentors for Stipendium Hungaricum scholarship holders too. They assist with everyday problems, questions regarding your stay in Hungary, Budapest and at ELTE.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTION

What factors are considered when making admission decisions? You have better chances of being accepted if you received high grades (GPA) during your high school studies or an undergraduate (BA or BSc) degree with “excellent” or “good” qualifications (in accordance with the Hungarian higher education system).

What is the tuition fee? This depends on which programme you wish to follow. Information regarding tuition fees can be found on our website: BTK.ELTE.HU/EN

What is the deadline for paying my tuition fee? If you require a visa to come to Hungary, we strongly advise you transfer the fee to the university's account as soon as possible after receiving your letter of acceptance. The local Hungarian embassy or consulate is likely to issue your visa only if the tuition fee has been settled in advance. Please only transfer the tuition fee to the university's account after you have been accepted onto of our programmes. If you are a European Economic Area (EEA) national, the Faculty requires you to pay the tuition fee up to one semester in advance.

I am a citizen of an EEA state; do I require a visa to study in Hungary? No, you do not, but you might be required to apply for a registration card depending on the length of your stay. Citizens of states belonging to the European Economic Area (EEA) are entitled to enter the territory of the Hungarian Republic in possession of a valid identity card or passport and are allowed to stay for up to 90 days, without any special authorisation. EEA citizens planning to stay for more than 90 days in Hungary must apply for a registration card.

Where can I find out more about the legal requirements I have to comply with? Many of the instructions for obtaining a visa and residence permit (only for non-EEA nationals), or any other documents needed while staying in Hungary, can be found on our website: BTK.ELTE.HU/EN. However, we strongly recommend that you should always inquire with the Hungarian authorities in order to make sure that you have the latest and most up-to-date information. The National Directorate-General for Aliens Policing (OIF) is responsible for most procedures that non-Hungarian nationals have to follow when they wish to study in Hungary.

Department of International Affairs

The staff of the Department of International Affairs (DIA) organise events and provide information to international students about the campus and community. They offer continuous support and assistance in academic affairs. When arriving at ELTE, students will meet our dedicated team, who will always go beyond the call of duty to meet their demands.

The ELTE Housing Office also assists students in finding private accommodation that matches their expectations. They can rent an apartment or just a room, either alone or with other students. Enthusiastic, open-minded, and helpful ELTE staff are available to support with:

- university administration,
- faculty-specific questions,
- finding a flat or room,
- discovering the best pubs,
- restaurants, and more

PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

ELTE finds it essential that in addition to offering students quality education, their alma mater should also help them with finding career paths. The ELTE Career Centre helps ELTE students plan and prepare for their professional career after graduation in a conscious way.

THE CITY OF BUDAPEST

Eötvös Loránd University is located in the very heart of Budapest. Most major sights are easily reachable on foot, turning every break from classes into an opportunity to venture into one of the city's many beautiful areas. The capital has one of the best public transportation networks in Europe, operating even in the late night hours. A major benefit: having an active student status at our university will enable you to buy transportation tickets at a discounted rate (student card strictly required).

AFFORDABLE LIVING

Budapest is a popular destination for students also because the city offers affordable living costs, but before you come to study at ELTE, you need to plan your budget to make sure you can cover your accommodation and other living expenses here.

WHY BUDAPEST?

Budapest, the capital of Hungary, is a cosmopolitan city with more than 2 million inhabitants. Hungary and Budapest itself have an abundance of history, culture and entertainment to offer students and other visitors. Despite the elements of modern life, Budapest still feels slightly nostalgic, often evoking a turn-of-the-century feeling. Art nouveau is present in nearly every nook and cranny of this dynamic city, which harmoniously integrates elements of Roman and Turkish history as well. Budapest is within easy reach of other cultural hubs in Europe. When it comes to entertainment and enjoying life as a young adult student, more and more people compare Budapest to the city of Berlin.

To come and study in Europe was a long pursued dream for me. Budapest is an intermediate city in size but wide in terms of culture and film production.”
